Description

The Locking-D carabiners from "The Carabiner People" at Omega Pacific feature a pin and notch gate. Well known for their sport climbing carabiners, Omega Pacific makes rescue carabiners that are rapidly earning a reputation for high performance. The nut locks on the gate to prevent jamming. The Offset-D models are close in size to the Stubb model 45, but offer greater strength and the safety of a pin and notch gate. Made in the United States from 7/16" steel for strength and durability. Offset "D" design provides a large gate opening for ease of use. Locking screwgate for extra security. Head treated for extra strength.
